- The law requires that all contributions to a political committee must be reported. Contributors frequently donate goods and services in lieu of or in addition to making monetary contributions. If Pacific Printing Industries WA PAC has not paid full value for an item or service you have provided, you have made an in-kind contribution.
- Volunteer campaign services are not reportable so long as the volunteers are not paid by anyone for the campaign work they do. If an individual assists the campaign while on the company payroll or if he or she is otherwise compensated by his or her employer for the campaign work done, that person's employer is making an in-kind contribution to the Pacific Printing Industries WA PAC.
